STORIES FROM THE FIELD

Kala RAMESH is the Youth Corner Editor for cattails, the online journal of the United Haiku and Tanka Society (UHTS). She has been teaching haiku in India for nearly 8 years. There is a nice selection of haiku by students at the Youth Corner Page, in cattails.

We invited Kala to share her work at UHTS and help us begin this new section on The Haiku Foundation’s Education Resource Page.

Kala Ramesh writes:

“It is great fun to work with children — for the very name ‘haiku’ fascinates them! Curiosity is one thing children have in abundance, and if you catch that you tap into some great creativity and talent.”
