

Creatrix

Poetry and Haiku Journal

06.10.2009

Issue #5 – June 2009: Haiku

Editor: Maureen Sexton

In this issue:

Nicholas Barwell

John Bird

Liana Christensen

Meryl Manoy

Peter Rondel

Maureen Sexton

Rose van Son

Liz Nicholls

Gary de Piazzi

Sally Clarke

evening on the water

distant music

lights across the bay

after the drought

the gentle sound of rain

this windy day

on the line my shirts perform a spanish dance

in sunlight or shade

the soft call

of doves

Nicholas Barwell

cloudless sky

the storm bird climbs

even higher

pre-dawn chill

the rasp of wings

unfolding

the part in aunty's hair –

autumn breeze

oncology

the sigh of lift doors

opening

spring growth –

grandfather weeds

the wrong grave

old pond splash rings the world rosebud

the butterfly

almost lands

stargazing...

sound of the creek

after nightfall

cedar forest

a dead tree caught

in a sapling's fork

John Bird

springtime gone

still the child's heart

loves Issa

dam the three gorges

the Yangtze river dolphin

is gone

Liana Christensen

cloudy day

curtains opened

daisies closed

sunny day

doves on birdbath

drink reflections

winter gusts

willy wagtail balancing

on wire

beach artist

picture postcard sunset air-brushed sky

Meryl Manoy

windswept furrowed land only dry desert dust

endless azure skies.

morning traffic slow
drive through heavy rain another wet day.

a noisy bar
she pours cold beer
two worlds in one land

Peter Rondel

stormy day
red beaks
through the reeds

school report—

the dog nestles

in my lap

-previously published Paper Wasp Autumn 2007 moving house —

a snake skin

in the shed

-previously published Free Xpression 2008 June 2008 Volume XV Issue No 6 outback sunset—

embers glowing

under the billy

-previously published Stylus Poetry Journal 2007

Maureen Sexton

summer's ending

leaves litter path

suitcase snaps shut

spring shower

dandelions shine

in the paddock

Rose van Son

dawn meditation

magpies warble

softly

mothers day

white chrysanthemums

cover her name

afternoon tea

a crow dunks his crust

in the birdbath

Liz Nicholls

visiting in-laws –

restrained kelpie

eager for escape

tap tap

of rotating sprinkler – distant cicadas

midday sun –

the crackle of dead lawn

underfoot

Gary de Piazzi

sunset

over sand dunes

Venus shines brightly

outside the nursing home

wires hum

mother sits quietly

raindrops

on white mandevilla

sunlight sparkles

evening sun

through Christmas lily

translucence

Sally Clarke

Creatrix Poetry and Haiku Journal—ISSUE #5

FINIS